Chas. M. Rowlander, Sub-Division Man, Again Buys Heavily

Charles E. Rowlander, a wealthy farmer and stockman of Grand Rapids, Mich., who has been coming to Daytona for the past nine winters, has again evidenced his confidence in the future development and growth of Daytona and its suburbs.

Mr. Rowlander the day following his arrival in this city last week, purchased through the Bingham & Thompson Agency, a block of land fronting 442 feet on North avenue and Main street and 666 feet on Mulberry street. This block is beautifully wooded, being a natural park and is admirably adapted for sub-division into desirable building lots, and, in fact, it was Mr. Rowlander's intention to lay out and subdivide this property and put it on the market. However, having been offered what is understood to be a substantial profit on his investment, Mr. Rowlander yesterday resold the property to the First National company who already have ten negroes at work clearing and putting the land in shape for sub-division and sale.

Having disposed of the above property, and not being satisfied unless his is actively engaged in some development, Mr. Rowlander yesterday closed a deal through Bingham & Thompson for the purchase of a tract in Holly Hill, just adjoining the northern limits of Daytona. This tract faces approximately 1000 feet on the Dixie Highway and Daytona street and 600 feet on Mason and Forest avenues, and also includes the beautiful point lying east of the Highway with a frontage of over 1000 feet on the Halifax River.

It is Mr. Rowlander's intention to immediately clear up and place this tract in the best of condition before placing any portion of it on the real estate market.

As Mr. Rowlander has during his nine winters spent in Daytona developed and sold six separate subdivisions, all of which have rapidly built up with beautiful homes, he is a past master of the sub-division business, and while benefiting himself he has also been a large factor in the growth of this community.

Candidates Still Entering News' Huge Salesmanship Club for Valuable Prizes

IF YOU ARE AGGRESSIVE AND A LIVE WIRE, ENTER THE NEWS' HUGE SALESMANSHIP CLUB CAMPAIGN—A PRIZE FOR ONE AND A PRIZE FOR ALL—ALL WINNERS—NO LOSERS.

Like nervous chugging racing cars, that shoot away from the line at the drop of the flag and speed away over their courses that means reward for their plucky drivers, so the News' huge $3,500 Salesmanship Club members have started their struggle to win the beautiful Velle or Ford.

One of the attractive features of the campaign is the fact that we have a declining vote schedule. Between now and March 12, each and every subscription that is taken by any club member will count her many more votes than the same subscription if taken during the last part of the drive. Should any club member turn in as much as $20.00 between now and March 12 she will receive over and above the regular vote schedule 110,000 extra votes as a bonus. This offer will absolutely close on the date set and from that date on the votes will positively decrease. The $30.00 does not have to be turned in all at one time, but some of it may be turned in on one report day and the rest on another and so on. It will be added to the amount you already have in and when there is as much as $30.00, you will be credited with the extra vote bonus. This bonus offer of votes will be given to any club member and there is no limit to the number of bonuses one can receive, the more the better it is for you. Don't fail, Miss Candidate, to try for as many of these extra votes as you can, for after the close of this huge offer on March 12, the votes must decrease.

Everyone that has heard of the campaign or has seen the cars have fallen in love with them, and many are making it a point to lose no time in getting started to win one of them. The News office has been besieged all day with anxious ladies, asking for details and the campaign managers have been kept busy explaining the campaign to prospective club members. As a result we have in the campaign a list of club members that are all overwhelmed with the liberality of the club and the ease with which these prizes may be had.

One More Month.
Just about one month from this day the campaign will close, a mighty short time when you stop to think of it, and it will behoove the ambitious ones to get busy at once if they expect to be returned the winner of one of the capital prizes. The main beauty of the drive is that there is no chance of a loss, for every one that enters and stays in the race will receive at the close a very valuable prize. There will be no losers, for the cash commission checks take care of that. If you stay in the race and still do not win a prize, you will receive at the close a 15 per cent commission of all the work you may have done.

If your game so far has not been entered in this stupendous drive, see to it that it comes in at once, so that you will not get behind in the merry game of vote gathering. If you can call the campaign manager at the office and make an appointment with him and he will come out and explain

Hilyard, Newcomer in Pacing Game, Carries off Honors at Beach Classic Saturday P.M.

Featured by a perfect beach, an attendance of approximately 7,000 race enthusiasts, some of the fastest automobile races staged, and several "Cracker Cowboy" horse races, the amateur racing on Daytona Beach Saturday proved an overwhelming success. Hilyard, in a Mercer, and Mrs. Mellor, in a Stutz, copped first honors in the auto races, while Espedahl was crowned king of pedal pushers, and Chris Clifton, Blackwelder and Rawlings vied for horse racing honors of the day.

Although a derailment delayed the arrival of the nine thoroughbred horses from Orlando, it was announced that these steeds will probably be here for the coming Saturday races, when Roman, chariot and running horse races will be provided the racegoers, as well as the regular line of auto races and "Cracker" horse races.

The races were scheduled for 2 o'clock; however, it was nearer 2:30 when the first event was started. Long before this first race was called, the beach, Ocean boulevard and homes fronting the beach were crowded with spectators.

During the four-mile turn race, some of the fastest and most expert turns ever witnessed were effected by the speedsters.

Hilyard, entering with a Mercer speedster, carrying the Prince George hotel colors, copped two first honors. This is the first race entered in by this driver, and having won such success on his first day, it is thought he will become one of the "old timers" and line up for the starter's flag each Saturday.

Another feature of the day was the challenge bicycle race between Espedahl, of Daytona, and Waldren, of Deland. Espedahl won first place after a heated contest over the half-mile course.

In the ladies' race, Mrs. Mellor, driving a Stutz, won two out of three heats from Mrs. Gardner, being awarded first prize for that event.

The airplane exhibition, being staged at the same time with the boys' bicycle race, failed to attract as much attention as heretofore, although the customary line of army training "stunts" were gone through.

A meeting of the Daytona Beach Racing association has been called to night at 8 o'clock at the New Gables hotel. It is announced that business of great importance will be discussed at this meeting, and it is urgently requested that all members of the association be present.

The winners of the events were as follows:

First event—Quarter-mile horse race, won by Chris Clifton, riding "Man o' War," with Blackwelder, riding "Sir Barton," second. First prize, box of cigars; second prize, bag of oats.

Second event—Four-mile free-for-all turn race—Hilyard, driving Mercer, first; Corradi, driving Packard, second.

Third event—Ladies' one-mile straightaway—Mrs. Mellor, driving Stutz, first; Mrs. Gardner, driving Hudson, second.

Fourth event—Airplane exhibition.

Fifth event—One-mile bicycle

Receding Chin.
Generally speaking, a receding, weak chin is a poor sign in man and woman. It does not denote a warm nature, shows a lack of moral and mental force, and indicates that its possessor is easily discouraged. All the same, it does not do to sum up anyone from the chin alone. There may be other characteristics which counterbalance defects.

THE HALIFAX COUNTRY AS A MECCA FOR GOLFERS

No locality in the South has come to the front as a golf center during the past few years to such an extent as has the Halifax Country, there being no less than three excellent golf courses within the territory. At great expense the Clarendon Hotel Company has built an eighteen hole course north of the hotel in Seabreeze, while another wonderful course is maintained by the Hotel Ormond at Ormond Beach.

The newest golf course to be organized is "The Daytona Golf and Country Club," which has built a nine hole course and which will be later added to and made an eighteen hole course. This course is located on South Ridgewood Avenue, at a point about one mile south of Daytona. Riding out Ridgewood Avenue and turning sharply to your right through an attractively laid out driveway, you come to the center of recreation for many golf enthusiasts of the Halifax Country—the Daytona Golf and Country Club—which comprises one of the most effectively laid out courses and country clubs, covering 110 acres of typical scenic Florida woodland and grassy plain.

To this mecca of pleasure pour daily approximately 35 golf adherents, who play the nine hole course, beside the number of onlookers and visitors. At present the course is in its making. Nine holes constitute the present golf course, and a small but attractive clubhouse is the refreshment center for the players and headquarters for the caddies.

However, great plans are under way to make this golf course one of the largest and most attractive in the Southland, consisting of eighteen holes covering an additional 100 acres of land, making the aggregate amount 210 acres, and the site of a $50,000 clubhouse.

According to the plans now under way, the clubhouse will be built near the entrance, fronting the golf greens, the driveway and South Ridgewood Avenue.

The ground at this spot is featured by a steep roll of about fifteen feet from the level of South Ridgewood to the level of the golf course.

The clubhouse will be built on both levels. On the lower level will be lockers and dressing rooms, while on the highest Ridgewood Avenue level will be the dining room, reception rooms and kitchen.

When completed it is expected that from 60 to 70 players will be on the course daily, and it is hoped that the membership of the club will be increased to 300 at once.

A great campaign for raising the capital stock of the club is now under way. It is hoped that through this campaign, bonds and stock will be sold to raise the capital to $100,000, this money to be used in building the clubhouse, enlarging the golf course and beautifying the entire plot.

Carl H. Knappe is president of the Club and has been untiring in his efforts.

J. L. Pepper has charge of the bond selling and membership campaign and has given his time and efforts toward making it an overwhelming success. Many committees have been appointed and have been scouring the Triple Cities selling the stock and securing new members to the Club.

The present course resembles very much a series of circles, starting with a wide outer circle and running into smaller and smaller circles—whirlpool like.

Although there are only nine holes in reality, an eighteen hole game may be played through playing to and from the ninth hole, using the first as the eighteenth in the return play.

The present intensive campaign for the sale of bonds and for soliciting of membership is conducted by teams of Halifax Country boosters, who aim to make the Halifax Country the greatest golf center of the South, and who urge upon all people interested in the great Halifax Country that, by purchasing bonds and membership in the golf club, they are making not only a good home community investment and are not in any sense of the word contributing toward charity. There is, at the present time, no greater movement under way than the completion of this wonderful golf course, and it behooves every person who is interested in the community to lend their support to the project.

Those desiring to buy bonds or take a membership may phone E. P. Woodbury, Campaign Chairman, Main 9116, or J. L. Pepper, Secretary, phone 7764, and help to "PUT IT OVER."

The Penal Code and Our Larger Life

By AL. G. RAY

In dealing with delinquents one must treat more to the influence of humanity and less to the rigorous tenets of the code. It is recognized by jurists more fully each day that justice must be tempered with mercy in dealing with minor infractions of the law.

What is justice? It is difficult to find an adequate definition, but this we know, that there can be no arbitrary rule of application in dealing with offenders. We may meet the requirements of the criminal code, but in individual cases this procedure does not always make for justice. The old idea of simply considering the offense and the penalty and measuring one to fit the other, does not meet the demands of justice. The human element must be taken up, weighed and balanced, the good and the bad of it, with the view of molding it so that it will be all for good in tendency.

In dealing with offenders we have a problem. There are latent forces whose awakening and drift are determined by conditions of environment.
 These forces considered as energy may be molded for good or evil, the characters of expression being influenced by the conditions entering into the struggle for existence. The individual is not a free agent with moral and intellectual forces in harmonious balance. How many can lay claim to perfect mental and moral balance—entire freedom from impulse to do things which he condemned others for doing? Resistance may be born of the restraining influence of education and environment, and not allogether to high moral opposition to the doing of certain things. Many men and women, too, who live the clean, upright life are grand sinners sublimely but they possess the power of control and directing. They lead clean lives notwithstanding impulses to the contrary. Men in touch with life's "other side" officially must keep up to date and direct mental currents into a broadening channel that will allow for growth and expansion. We must get rid of our narrowness and open our minds to the recognition of things born of the present. We should discard the habit of shaping our actions by some mold of the past.

 We waste too many thoughts on what was or what used to be, in dealing with delinquents, whether young or old. We are under moral obligation to seek for some trait—some force—that may be developed along the line of good. We must measure up to our moral obligation and be prepared at all times to keep in touch and sympathy with struggling units that need but light and encouragement to find their way.

In dealing with offenders, we find it necessary to relegate many ideas that only yesterday dominated us.
 Institutions, political economics, cultural and moral ideas are changing.
 We must keep step with the changes.
 The war has thrown us into a larger life, and we must see the necessity of getting in touch with problems arising from it, not the least of which is non-employment and the educational or problem, the inevitable sequence of war's ending.

"Sinecure."
 Our word sinecure is derived from two Latin words—the preposition sine, without, and the noun cura, here in the absolute sense, meaning care. Sine cura was, therefore, without care, hence our word sinecure, meaning an office without responsibility but that has a pecuniary position having enough money with it for its duties.

Imminent Surgeon of Columbus, Ohio Is at The Beach

Among the recent arrivals at the Seaside Inn are Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Hoy and their charming little 5 year old daughter, Harriet. This remarkable little dancer amazed as well as entertained the guests attending the regular Friday evening party at this hotel with her perfect steps and graceful movements on the dancing floor.

Dr. Hoy is a distinguished surgeon of Columbus, Ohio, and just now, with his associate, Dr. F. F. Lawrence, another eminent physician of the Buckeye capital, is equipping and establishing the McKinley hospital, one of the most complete institutions of the kind in Ohio. He was formerly a lecturer in the medical departments of the Northwestern university and the University of Chicago, and is the author of several standard medical and surgical works, including one on the bones and another on appendicitis. For some years he was associated with Dr. J. B. Murphy, known the world over as "Button Murphy," who he regards as the clearest and ablest lecturer on diagnosis that ever lived. As a place to learn how to perform an operation and all about the niceties of this great art.

Dr. Hoy's father, Dr. W. S. Hoy, was also an eminent surgeon, served 10 terms in the Ohio legislature and a term in Congress. He rendered his state a great service by securing the enactment of a law providing that anti-toxine should be free to all sick persons unable to purchase it, and that the state should pay for it. This has saved the lives of thousands of poor people stricken with diphtheria. Although an old school physician, Dr. Hoy is exceedingly liberal in his judgments of others. He said: "To my mind nearly all people who practice healing do good. I have no criticism to make of the osteopath. Often there is a slight displacement of one of the vertebrae or some other bone of the body, and by a slight manipulation it is put back in place and the patient is relieved of pain. This is doing good. There are also cases, I believe, when the Christian Scientist does good. But there are times when the services of the regular physician or surgeon are necessary."

When asked what he thought of enforced vaccination the doctor said: "American people do not like to be forced to do anything. They feel they should have the right to accept or adopt such treatment as they desire, and they cannot be blamed for feeling this way. Many people are opposed to vaccination because they have known of some serious results from the use of vaccine. It is my belief, however, that the fact that there are very few virulent cases of smallpox heard of nowadays is that such a vast majority of the people have been vaccinated and have been rendered immune thereby. We believe that a person that has been successfully vaccinated is safe from this dread disease for at least seven years and usually for a lifetime. It is very rare indeed for a person who has been properly vaccinated to be very sick with smallpox. Yet I am not prepared to say that it should be forced upon those who do not believe in it, but I am satisfied it is a certain preventative."

"Nothing has come to me in life," said Dr. Hoy, "that has given me so much satisfaction as to receive now and then a letter from some medical student calling attention to some statement I made when lecturing that has stayed with him and been of practical value in after life. The other day I received a letter from a young woman practitioner, who said: 'I can never forget when you said: Appendicitis always starts with a severe acute pain—with the pain in capital letters. This has helped me many times in making a diagnosis.'"

T. Oyama Abhors War; Believes In National Defense

Daytona Beach, Feb. 26, 1921.
Editor Daily News:

All this certain class of humanity was an inpour into the United States they are still an instreaming rapidly from all directions of the world.

Why that the people should depart from their own native land to this section of the globe because of those people have learned the ideas and listening that the value of principles of democracy.

It is worth and proud to live, that the United States history is widely known in the world wonder and become remarkable power among the civilized countries of the world.

From beginning there had been much amazement and creditable achievement of United States government, it was common knowledge that has remained continually, we all believe that is wonderful advancement in a short time, thereby then we are bound to recollect whereabouts the world civilization has born in the later history.

While a definite period to a modern life here and there in the world, certain number of people are beginning to think that an ancient system of a custom as imperialism is disagreeable, but the war is most hateful upon any nationality, we are not believe in deadly conflict for any means, there is thousands and thousands weakened their hearts in an effort to see the peaceful conclusion after suffered with merciless of terrible war.

Why on earth we shall involve into the warfare, it is not so wise to be proud as a skilled wholesale murder by any reason, where on earth we could find a justice by that act, do we have a right to kill each others? I believe not—we are bound guilty to the law of God; the war is a hell; we must adhere to a religious faith, then become our duty as Christian warrior-ship and we better act before entirely forgotten.

Of course, we must obey to the rule which we have now already created under our own society, certainly we do not believe any person who may be intended to disturb or to speak against government affairs, but the government itself is not intended or designated for only fighting purpose. It is able management of our society, therefore, we must have a particular preparation for the defense at any moment of future.

Miss Grace Saxe, of Sunday Party Talks of Her African Trip

Miss Grace Saxe is perhaps the most widely known and certainly one of the most interesting persons connected with the "Billy" Sunday organization. She has been with the great evangelist about 10 years or longer than any other member of the party. She registers from Chicago, where she has made her headquarters for several years, but her old home town is Belle Plain, Iowa, where she was raised. She first joined the Sunday party in Waterloo, but had known Mr. Sunday some time before. She has had a remarkable experience as a Bible teacher and is now conceded to be one of the most efficient in the world.

Before joining the Sunday organization she was associated in the same work with Dr. Charles Alexander and Dr. R. A. Torrey, two world famous evangelists. She accompanied both of these great preachers in their European campaigns, having charge of the Bible teaching for each.

"One of the most interesting experiences in my life," said Miss Saxe in answer to a query by a News representative, "was my association with Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt in Africa. I had gone there to teach the Bible in the various American missions in Palestine and throughout Europe. While engaged in that work there Mr. Roosevelt came to Africa on his famous hunting trip. When it was learned in America that Mr. Roosevelt had promised to address several of the missions in Egypt, the religious press of this country at once became interested in securing some reports of his speeches. This was particularly true of the United Presbyterian papers. As a result I received a cablegram authorizing me to accompany the Roosevelt party and make as complete a report of his addresses as possible. I certainly considered this a great privilege and enjoyed the work and associations to the limit. As there were but few Americans in the party I could not help but become well acquainted with both Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt. I was to join their party in Soudan and I met them at Luxor. Mrs. Roosevelt had just arrived and met him a little sooner and at a nearer point. They spent four days in Egypt. I found them just like home folks, so agreeable and considerate in every way, and the speeches he made to those poor, ignorant people were real masterpieces in simplicity and good sense. They were not in the least arrogant, but democratic in the extreme. He would mix with the natives and in a fatherly way would show the boys how to do things about their homes, while Mrs. Roosevelt, who is one of the dearest women I ever met, took a great interest and even made patterns for the children's clothes and showed the mothers how to use them. I am satisfied two kind hearted or more practical people never lived than Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt."

Miss Saxe spent several months teaching the Bible in her Palestine and Egyptian work and two years in Europe. So far she has given her entire mature life to teaching and explaining the Bible. She has written a half dozen books that have been widely circulated with the Bible as her subject and inspiration. They are: "Studies in Genesis," "Studies in Exodus," "Studies of the Major Prophets," "Studies in Acts," and "The Life of Christ." Her last work includes "Three Studies—Christian Science as Compared with the Bible," "The Way of Salvation," and "The Second Coming of Christ."

"Indeed I do enjoy every minute of my work," said Miss Saxe in reply to a question. "No one could help it when associated with so generous, kind and considerate a leader as Mr. Sunday. He takes just one hour for his preaching services, closing promptly so that the half hour longer I keep the people for Bible study does not tire them and usually several hundred remain at each meeting. Before leaving a place it is my plan to organize various neighborhood Bible classes and these are often maintained for a year or two after we close our campaign. In Buffalo we left five hundred of such classes. I have explained the purposes of these classes here, but I am not expecting the usual results here, as so many of the people here are tourists and are only here temporarily."

Miss Saxe has never been married, is on the sunny side of life, is vigorous physically and mentally, is a fine speaker, with an excellent and far reaching speaking voice; is also a good singer and therefore is able to help out most any time and anywhere in an evangelistic campaign. There is no doubt she is of great benefit to the Sunday organization, is an important spoke in the wheel and is doing a great good on her own account. In manner she is gracious and apparent-

Barnyard Golfers of St. Petes Issue Challenge to Beach

It is possible there will be a real championship horseshoe pitching contest here within a short time. The following letter just received is self-explanatory:

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 23, 1921.
Mr. Charles H. Drum, President,
Daytona Beach Horseshoe Club,
Daytona Beach, Fla.

Dear Sir:
We are making a trip down the East Coast to pitch horseshoes, and have three games scheduled for March 3, 4 and 5 and am trying at present to arrange a game in Daytona and would like to book a game with your club also for March 8.

The players will be the national champion and the ex-national champion and myself. Now the expenses of the three men will be $50. I am sure we would have a large crowd, and your club could be reimbursed from the collections taken up. If you should want this game it would be a good idea to advertise it through your papers. The courts on your grounds would have to be fixed up according to the national rules, and if you care to, the courts would be more attractive decorated in the national colors. We play in West Palm Beach, Lake Worth and Miami March 3, 4, 5. Hoping this meets with your club's approval I will ask you to let me hear from you, at once. I played on your courts one afternoon this winter and suppose some of you remember me. Yours truly,

(Signed) C. A. GLANT,
Vice President National League of Horseshoe Pitchers.

President C. H. Drum of the local club will take this challenge up with his fellow members, and if the financial end of the proposition can be taken care of, no doubt the Daytona Beach pitchers will put up a mighty worthy contest.

Bunco Party at Daytona Beach Hotel on Friday

Friday evening the guests of the Daytona Beach hotel and other friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bostwick and Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Rosner, the owners of this popular hotel, were most delightfully entertained at a "bunco party."

Bunco is a very interesting and exciting game and easily learned. It is played with dice. Three are used at each table of four players. Trump is made at table one, and highest point on dice decides trump for all tables. When the first table scores 23 they announce "Bunco," and all the others stop playing. The winners move up and thus the players are kept in constant progress throughout the evening. There were 12 tables and all report a delightful occasion. The prizes awarded were very beautiful and appropriate. They were: Ladies—First, exquisite hand decorated boudoir toilet bottle; second, souvenir of Florida, a thermometer, mounted on polished cane; consolation, hand painted silk sachet bag. Gentlemen—First, pearl handled pocketknife; second, same as ladies' second prize; consolation, miniature fishing tackle.

BILLY SUNDAY

"No One Can Be a Christian and Not Go to Church" Says "Billy" Sunday in Address

The two sermons delivered at the Auditorium Saturday afternoon and evening proved a great attraction despite the number of counter attractions in the Triple Cities. Both the afternoon and evening sermons were attended by large crowds and thoroughly enjoyed.

Following the usual Billy Sunday custom, a collection will be taken at each of the three sermons today. The money derived in this manner goes to Mr. Sunday for his services. The collections made during the first few days of the campaign went toward defraying local expenses. Mr. Sunday always waits until these items are out of the way before allowing a collection to be made for his benefit.

The afternoon sermon was delivered on the topic, "The Name Shall Be Called Beautiful," and dwelt mainly on the righteousness of God and the beautiful throne on which he sits in overseeing the works of creation.

The evening sermon, "Seek Ye the Lord," was attended by a capacity house, the huge Auditorium being filled to full seating capacity, and although the evangelist failed to ask for "trail hitters," many marched down the aisles, and shook hands with him at the conclusion of this powerful sermon.

of trying to show you the light and has beckoned."

During this sermon the evangelist also took a crack at those people who believe they can be Christians without belonging to or going to church.

"There may be some of you who can do this stunt," he said, "but I couldn't, and I've never seen anyone else who could—you've got to show me."

"If there hadn't been any need of the church God would not have called it."

"Some of you may even believe that you can live without breathing—go ahead and try it and cough."

"Seek ye the Lord and the church membership will care for itself."

Another little story the evangelist related to the audience was that of a man converted through the preachings of the famous evangelist, Moody.

"Once," said Billy, "Moody was preaching out in a middle western city. The newspapers had said they were going to print every word he said on the platform. There was much rivalry among the opposing papers, and one day a paper headed one of the sermons with a fresh head."

"That afternoon a prisoner, a notorious vagabond and crook, picked up one of the papers in his cell. The fresh head attracted his attention. He started reading the sermon, to throw it down and wonder what the hell had gone wrong with the newspapers."

"That night, (lying on his chills), he remembered a portion of the sermon he had read, went back, picked up the paper and read the sermon through by the candle light."

"One of the guards came by just as he sat meditating over the sermon, and the prisoner told him, 'My what a real I have been; I'm going straight from now on.'"

"The guard told the father, who knew his subject, ordered a double guard, fearing he was going straight out of jail."

"A few days later, through some technicality, he was freed from the charge, and left that city bent upon doing right."

"Several years later he returned to the same city to be told by a deputy sheriff that the sheriff wanted to see him."

"The same old thing some said they've found, but I'll go straight down and if it was under the sun and were the devil, he told the officer."

"They journeyed to the sheriff's office and when confronting that official Bert, the repentant vagabond, was shown an exact list of the crooks he had passed through since he had been freed from the prison."

"See that," the sheriff said, "I've been keeping track of you, Bert, and they make a good report—six crooks, keeping straight. I want to make you a deputy, because you know the law of criminals here, and we want to clean them up."

"The evangelist made a dignified exit, and made a few minutes that was a very unbecoming attempt to croak."

"Several years later, already arrested, and going to the sheriff's office to be sent to the penitentiary, he was shown a list of the crooks he had passed through since he had been freed from the prison."

"See that," the sheriff said, "I've been keeping track of you, Bert, and they make a good report—six crooks, keeping straight. I want to make you a deputy, because you know the law of criminals here, and we want to clean them up."

PEABODY DEBATE WILL BE HELD AT BEACH, APRIL 1

S. J. Peabody, the friend of education in the Triple Cities and Volusia county, will continue his series of lectures that he has given in the past, to the Auditorium in the County Declaration and Ordinance, to be held in Daytona Beach on April 1, 1921.

An 2:00 p. m. on April 1, Friday, at the Auditorium, will be held the Girls' Declaration contest. There will be a presentation from each of the five Senior High schools in the county. The first prize will be $750. Second prize $250.

At 8:00 p. m. on the same day, there will be an Oratorical contest between the senior high schools, the prize to be $500 for the girls' contest. The prizes for both contests will be awarded by L. E. Reynolds, the county S. A. C. A. jury, and their identity will not be disclosed until after the contests have been decided.

In the evening, April 1, at 7:30 o'clock, the entertainment event of the county will be a debate between either New Smyrna or Deland, and Seaside or Daytona High schools, on the subject, "Resolved, that the present congress should prohibit immigration in the United States for a period of four years." This is a live subject, one of immediate importance, and the high school students are working well on it. The debate will be well worth hearing.

After the debate, Mr. Peabody plans to have a lecture on the subject of the establishment of the United States in the Auditorium. This has been selected for the educational events as well as the high interest and attraction.

All of these events will be held in the Peabody Auditorium, and not at the high school auditorium, as heretofore.

stated, and that in the rejection of Jesus Christ.

Although Billy did not ask for persons who wished to repeat and accept Jesus Christ as his usual way of ending his evening services, a great crowd lined up the aisles at the closing of the sermon and shook hands.

Famous Hammerlock Will Get Real Test In Local Match at Armory Next Thursday Night

When Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world heavyweight wrestling champion, and Constant LeMarin, champion of Canada, meet in the local ring at the Armory this week, Thursday night, two of the greatest exponents of the hammerlock will decide a dispute which has raged for many months between the two. The challenger for world honors claims that he is as great an artist of the famous hold as Lewis, but has had less opportunity to display it. Lewis will give him the chance here Thursday night.

No better selection could have been made of an opponent for Lewis than LeMarin for the local bout, as he is the real contender for the title honors which Lewis is holding at this time. The two wrestle very similar in manner, are about the same weight, and are built proportionately, both resembling the stern of a battleship for size.

When Lewis was discharged from the army as top sergeant the word "Excellent" was marked on his paper. The day he was discharged he said to a well-known sporting writer in Chicago: "It was a wonderful experience and I wouldn't sell my army service for a fortune."

When Lewis was appearing in the New York tournament the New York Globe printed the following written by Alfred W. McCann:

"Lewis is a wonderful type, agile, divine, powerful, with a beautiful body and wonderful legs. He, too, like Zbyszko, in his physical greatness, is indulgent to the faults of lesser men. I have seen him fouled on a number of occasions by excited wrestlers. Under the provocation he has winced for a second and then smiled broadly, as though it didn't matter at all.

"No finer type of athlete can be found, and if to secure a championship means to practice cruelty in its unlabeled brutality I verily believe that this splendid creature will deliberately forego such honor. Lewis is a man, not a beast."

"The crowd likes Lewis for the reason that it instinctively recognizes in him a combination of those traits of which its popular heroes are made. It knows that Lewis is game, sportsmanlike, fair, aggressive and under perfect control. So it pays its tribute to him, nightly, by demonstration of applause which are unmistakably spontaneous and well deserved."

That's a pretty high tribute from a writer of the standing and prominence of Alfred W. McCann.

Fans all season have been calling for better talent than was displayed at some of the Armory fights. The National Guard boys, promoting the fights, answered the challenge by putting up a staggering sum to secure the best in the world, the champion and the contender, that local wrestling fans might see the greatest wrestler of the present day, and considered by many the greatest in the game for all time, in action at the Armory on North Beach street.

Already word has been received from fight fans in Orlando, Sanford, Deland and as far away as Palatka and St. Augustine that strong contingents will be here Thursday night to see the world champion in action against the Canadian champion, in a finished fight, catch no catch can rules, no limit set, best two out of three falls.

It promises to be a big night in the Triple Cities. Extra attention is being paid by the National Guard to the ladies who are expected to attend in great numbers. At many of this year's bouts the fair sex have matched the men almost equally in number, and it is expected that the Thursday

Fannie Ward Has Now Returned To Her Screen Work

FANNIE WARD TO BE SEEN HERE IN CELEBRATED HENRI BERNSTEIN'S FICTION SUCCESS

After an absence from this country of nearly a year, Fannie Ward returns to the screen in what is declared to be the greatest emotional drama of her career, "She Played and Paid," a screen adaptation of Henri Bernstein's celebrated stage play, "La Rafale," which is to appear at the Seabreeze Opera house on Monday and Tuesday. It will be remembered that Miss Ward left Los Angeles last year for Paris, but no announcement was made at that time that Miss Ward's sojourn would include any screen activities. For this reason the news of her newest production, which was filmed in Paris under the direction of J. de Baronelli, has aroused much interest among public, press and the film industry.

In its visualized form "She Played and Paid," according to critics who have seen it privately, surpasses the original story in humaneness, depth of appeal and pathos—full of action and interest in every foot of its six reels. Mr. Baronelli, one of the most brilliant of the younger directors, has succeeded in bringing out the heart of the wonderful story which Henri Bernstein conceived. He has made a picture which critics agree will be one of the film sensations of the year. The characterization is superb, the direction faultless and the photography marvelous.

Miss Ward, in the dramatic role of Helene de Brecheber, who is willing to sacrifice her friends, home, life, honor itself for the man she loves, surpasses anything she has ever done in the past.

Jean Deaux, the well known French actor, is her leading man, while M. Joffre, M. Croue, and M. Janvier, in the roles of Baron Le Bourge, Jean Dupree, and Bragelin, respectively, complete the exceptionally strong cast.

WEDGEWOOD NOWELL FEATURED IN "813"

NOTED AMERICAN ACTOR SCORES IN ARSENE LUPIN STORY BY MAURICE LEBLANC

"813" an Arsene Lupin story by the famous French author Maurice LeBlanc, has been pictured and released by Robertson-Cole as a super-special. This interesting drama of sustained mystery will be shown Monday afternoon and evening, only one day, at the New Daytona theatre.

In the stellar role is Wedgewood Nowell, an American actor, who has distinguished himself through his portrayal of foreign types.

It has long since been stated by critics that the picture with the punch is the picture of mystery. It is human nature, they say, to thrive on suspense. If this be so, "813" is the greatest mystery picture of the age and the one that the public has been looking forward to.

At the very outset, the picture opens with a problem. Robert Castleback, "The Diamond King," has returned from Africa with all the wealth he can ever wish for. Having accomplished this much, he longs for new fields to conquer and has laid plans for world-wide power. At a certain price can be placed upon a throne, Castleback is quite confident he will have the world at his feet within a short time. It means the upset of all Europe but Castleback is drunk with success and the tremendous undertaking appeals to him.

There are others, unknown to him, who are cognizant of his aspirations. Arsene Lupin, master thief of Europe, but a loyal son of France, knows. He is bending every effort to obtain important papers from Castleback and thus protect his country. Two other individuals, pawns in the Kaiser's espionage system, are on the same mission bent. Castleback is murdered.

Development shows that the police authorities of Paris are divided in their opinion as to the guilty party. The coroner is positive that Lupin is guilty. The chief of police differs in his opinion. He declares Lupin "Robs the rich and gives to the poor, but never commits murder." Police complications as well as the intricate
